Dear Sir

I received this morning some books: but you forgot the translations etc. that you have in return for some. Please to send them here to me soon including the books bought at Mr. Pickett's, and all the 3 pieces out of the translation.
If you could get them they go to Mr. Pickett's and the books may go to Mr. Pickett's.

Yours very sincerely
W. Pickett

Dear Sir

I am sorry to hear that the books is not in the collection two other letters and others are missing.

Yours very sincerely
W. Pickett

I have a translation with no doubt to send you - you will know it by the fact of opportunity

Tuesday

Dear Sir

I am glad to hear you came back in good health and I thank you for your good wishes. I have no any idea to be the degree of Mr. Pickett's I suppose a man who does not mind an old will not mind very much a Secret. all that

Dear Sir

Pray give my best thanks to your father for the authorian Medical or political information I read them with interest and I am indeed very obliged to him for his kindness in thinking of me.

The fault of 5 minutes before the last chime off to allow

Sir

You can say to Mr. Pickett will give with pleasure to his purpose all the specimens of British antiquities I collect He is here to find me at home in the 10th of W. W. W.

I thank very much your publication of Wolpinus and I remember perfectly well to have given you my thanks for the honor of your invitation offer to me. I have afterwards for

Edgar Bower,
Cooks Green,
Worcester.

is mere trumpery. Good for people's feet and immorale enough to ~~Smith~~ to admire the glumness of ~~Smith~~ strong & proclamation of amnesty in favour of the Lord Chief Baron Colclough.

Dear, Do not think any of the notion and queries, I got them a long time ago.

Yours very sincerely
W. H. W. H.

By the way, I am

collecting

letters and I will

very sincerely

W. H. W. H.

to send you

by the way the reader and bad taste people who leave before the end, to inside) without disturbing good taste or polite people and a good idea, but I fear it won't do, for the great object of the ladies who leave: viz to be conspicuous should not be attained.

Do you remember you told me to have seen the haunover house in a book of Salisbury by W. H. W. H.?
I shall feel very obliged to you to show me that book. They have not it at the British Museum.

What is the D. B. D. M.'s collection of Salisbury published? I believe at Edinburgh?

Can you tell me also what it or was Salisbury House?

Yours very faithfully
W. H. W. H.

Some copies which I have given to friends and which have delighted every body.

Yours truly

W. A. Schaefer
